A LETTER TO THE FUTURE

DEAR FUTURE REVOLUTION

DONT BE CLEAN, BE DIRTY.
RIP APART THE FUTURE AND REBUILD IT FROM SCRATCH

DEAR REVOLUTION

DONT BE NICE, CHANGE TAKES SACRIFICE, SO DONT PICK AND CHOOSE YOUR BATTLES BASED ON CONSEQUENCE AND CONVENIENCE.

DEAR REVOLUTION

WE ARE ONE IN THE SAME, WHEN I MOVE
YOU MOVE, SO WHEN I AM STILL,
WHEN I AM QUIET
WHEN I SAY NOTHING AND SIT IN SILENCE, SO DOES OUR FREEDOM

DEAR PEOPLE

USE THE STRONGEST POWER
YOU HAVE, YOUR VOICE.

WHY ARE YOU STILL IN BED?

Because going outside is expensive.
Because I spoke to people yesterday,
and I can't do that two days in a row.
Because I'm tired of living through historical events.

Because unprecedented times are starting to feel normal.

Because this morning, I made a list of all my top priorities—

I'm one of them.

Being financially stable and genuinely happy is my ultimate goal right now.

A PRAYER

May your blessings arrive early enough and catch your sadness off guard may tragedy be a step too slow may forgiveness show up at your door let every moment be a reminder that a sunrise is still beautiful and so are you

May joy appear in a flash flood and call depression a liar until it shrinks may regret loosen its grip until shame is a language your body has forgotten you are more than the sum of your mistakes no matter how bad a day is it's allowed to start over this is a direct order to continue shining

Where do I fit in?

Do I sit in the back do I stand between a crack
what must I have to unpack

But I know I belong
I must stand bold and strong

Even when it's against what I am told Especially when things are wrong
I have to fight

For what I know is right

I am proud
In and out of crowds

I know where I fit in.

Maybe every loss makes the victory taste a little better.
Maybe life is a series of crashes, climbs, and smiling for pictures.
